

Bariatric Surgery Support Groups

Weight loss surgery is an important decision and an emotionally up and down journey. Our most successful patients usually have a strong support base. These support groups and forums listed below are a great way to share your personal experiences.

Support Groups..... Result in 12% more excess weight loss, on average.
And are normally led by a medical professional, to encourage participation by everyone, provide useful information and maintain a constructive & positive dialogue.
Be mindful of general online groups that are not professionally monitored.
